

Compose Yourself - October 10, 2015 workshop with Michelle Ward
Pratt School of Continuing and Professional Studies, Manhattan Campus

SAT 9 AM-5 PM; 1 SESSION OCT 10 MICHELLE WARD PMFA 518 .7 C.E.U.'S

Class description: How cool would it be to come to a class with only a pocketful of supplies, and leave with a portfolio of completed exercises that support your effort to improve building successful collages? With materials provided, we will work in black and white to create small panels that address the fundamental lessons of composition. We will practice editing, using positive and negative shapes, creating balance, and integrating personal inscriptions. The lessons are intended to encourage intelligent choices, and to observe, as a class, the opportunities for elevating our work to be clever, personal, and distinctive.

Supply list: students will need scissors, glue stick, and fine line black marker.

Instructor will provide materials for class with a $5 materials fee payable to instructor.

Contact Michelle Ward at GRNPEP@optonline.net to make any inquiries about the workshop.